Trust the experts

One of the UK's largest integrated energy companies came to us because their strict selection process highlighted that we were the best choice of SAP partner to design and implement an upstream specific template. We also helped them incorporate an acquisition into their standardised business processes. Our solution is now helping them better manage their upstream business with tighter operational control for enhanced profitability.

Another of our clients, a drilling contractor, wanted to improve their supply chain control and associated administration time. We implemented a supply chain solution that has helped them achieve both targets, enabling timely and more cost effective projects via better supply chain planning and visibility, and a 50% reduction in supply chain administration time.

Working with Absoft as your oil and gas SAP partner means you get the best quality service available. Make sure your investment in SAP is fully employed and bring in the specialists.
